

This Summer,
step into the spotlight!

Based on a collection of whimsical poems by Phillip Van Wagoner, Could You Hug A Cactus? is a musical revue that follows a group of kids as they come together to create a show that's bursting with poems and creativity. Take part in a wide range of creative activities that will culminate in an exciting edited musical theatre production! Along with group sessions, students will get individualized acting and musical instruction to help hone their growing skills. Join us for some musical fun from the comfort of your own home where you can sing as loud as you want!
